

WE NOMINATE

Isidor Isaac Rabi, one of the great scientists of modern times and a driving force in this country's "scientific revolution" of the 1930's and 1940's, who over the weekend established his residence here for the duration of the academic year 1961-62. The 63-year old physicist, Nobel Laureate in Physics in 1944 and the holder of literally dozens of scientific honors, will be undertaking the most intriguing teaching assignment announced here in the past decade. Rather than dealing with such topics as the "measurement of nuclear moments," he will be concerned with the role of science in the development of Western culture.

At one time chairman of President Eisenhower's Science Advisory Commission and the continuing United States member of both the United Nations' Science Committee and NATO's Scientific Commission, Rabi becomes the first non-historian ever to hold Princeton University's Shreve Fellowship. This distinctive post was created in 1923 "for the study of the history of nations, both ancient and modern, to ascertain the cause of their decay, degeneracy, extinction and destruction, and to show the dangers that now exist and are arising which, if not checked, will injure, if not destroy, our free government."

While the donor-stipulated terms of the Shreve Fellowship, memorializing an eminent New Jersey jurist, are over-dramatic and imply that the world around us may be in the precarious position depicted by modern-day Jeremiahs, they do underscore the gnawing fear felt by scientists and humanists alike over the void separating scientists and non-scientists. Some five years ago Rabi put his finger on the crux of the matter in stating: "Science and scientists are simply regarded as national assets to be increased and preserved for the value of increasing the military strength of the country. . . ."

Rabi, author of the highly readable and thoughtful "My Life and Times as a Physicist," has been described as a scientist who is "deeply interested in the humanities and understands their methods and needs." Over the months ahead, as the four-member committee working with him seeks to "capitalize upon his availability to further cross-disciplinary activities which have now become matters of national and world urgency," Rabi will be lecturing in undergraduate history courses, and, in his role as a Visiting Senior Fellow of Princeton's Council of the Humanities, will also be meeting informally with student and faculty representatives of a half-dozen different departments of study.

A native of "old Austria-Hungary," and a product of the famed Manhattan neighborhood centered about Delancey Street, Rabi took his basic degrees at Cornell and Columbia and was one of the first American scientists to work closely with the "rising stars" in Western Europe in the 1920's. He joined the Columbia Faculty in 1929, beginning an association that has now stretched into its 32nd year. Shortly after World War II, during which he was a dominant figure in five major projects, including the development of radar and the A-Bomb, Rabi entered upon the hectic, and continuing, phase of his career that has brought him into contact with almost every conceivable facet of the Western World's intellectual life.

For his achievements as a scientist and his perception as a philosopher-scientist; for insisting that the prime endeavor of science "extends far beyond the conversion of knowledge into things"; for accepting a challenge of the utmost importance to educators everywhere; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

SNOW ON THE AGENDA

And on the Sidewalks. The business of governing a town is not all big issues, and the dedicated public servant who runs for office expecting to deal every day with million-dollar budgets, urban planning, racial tensions and philosophies of education soon finds that government consists of deciding... who's going to clean the snow off my sidewalk?

It was that way in Township Hall Monday night when members of Township Committee tossed snowballs at one another for a considerable length of time, preparing for the stormy day when they will have to decide, one way or another—who's going to clean the snow off my sidewalk?

There are 77,000 feet of sidewalk in Princeton Township, according to James Breth, Township engineer.

Committeeman John S. Mount feels that, as a matter of principle, every household ought to clean off his own walk.

"I Object..." "I have strenuous objections to the Township doing this job," he said. "As a New Jersey tradition, the sidewalk is the responsibility of the household."

LOOK WHO'S HERE! When illness struck cafeteria workers at Princeton High and Nassau Street schools last week, mothers pitched in with short-order cook effectiveness to make sure that students were served. Here, at Nassau Street, Mrs. John Fischer (left) and Mrs. Frank Vonnacka serve a good hot lunch to eager customers. (Staff Photo.)

er. He buys this responsibility, like the responsibility of garbage disposal, when he buys his house. It's just one more example of 'letting the government do it for us,' and I object.

"Besides," Mr. Mount continued, "as a purely practical matter, it's hard enough to get men to clean the streets when it snows: how will we get men to clean sidewalks? And who is liable if somebody slips and falls on a Township-cleaned sidewalk? The Township? The household?"

Committeemen William Marvel and Maurice F. Healy, Jr. took issue with Mr. Mount, Mr. Healy pointing out that in snow-bound New England, the municipality almost always cleans the walks, and Mr. Marvel reminding his colleagues that it is not always easy to find small muscular boys who will shovel walks after a big snow.

"I feel that it's more efficient to arrange for snow removal by the Township than to do it any other way," Mr. Marvel commented.

Committeeman Thomas P. Cook joined with Mr. Mount in pin-pointing the home-owner, suggesting that there might be a time limit, followed by a penalty for the man who wouldn't shovel. He also suggested that the Township might do it and bill the homeowner for the work.

Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman, sitting quite literally in the middle of the snowstorm, reminded his colleagues that the problem had many ramifications, even if the Township decided to take a middle course and hire a firm to take over the job. Mr. Breth was asked to investigate various possibilities and give Committee an estimate on equipment, labor and so on.

To Ask State Aid. Each year, the state makes available to each county $100,000 for highway aid, the amount divided among the county's municipalities in the way the state feels best. Committee discussed Monday night the possibility of applying to the state for highway aid to realign what Mayor Fairman called the "Colonial type double dog-leg" of Alexander Street in cooperation with West Windsor Township, which would like to re-align its own Alexander dog-leg.

Progress Report

TOWN TOPICS reports with pleasure that:

- Its classified advertising last week set an all-time record in the number of inches published.
- Its display advertising for September is 15.3 percent ahead of September, 1960.
- Its current circulation has reached an all-time high of 13,488.

The deadline for application is October 1, and Mr. Breth was directed to make a fast survey of costs and possibilities in time for the Township to apply.

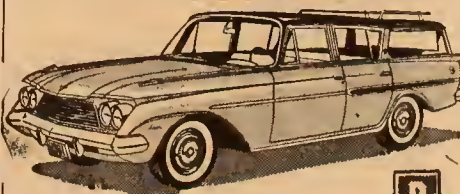

Obtaining a share of these state funds is not easy, but Committee feels it has a chance in the case of Alexander because the road feeds into U. S. 1, a state highway, and also because it has been the scene of several accidents. In addition, the cooperation with West Windsor is said to make the project more appealing in view of state officials.

to hear what Committee planned to do about the street, but Committeemen themselves carried on a spirited discussion of the ordinance to accept the road and assess property-owners one-third of the cost. The result was that the ordinance was passed, 4-1. Mr. Mount voting "no."

Mr. Mount feels that, in spite of the new Township policy for accepting streets, there are certain stub ends that should be "cleaned up." One of these is Leavitt Lane. Another is Overbrook Drive, a third is Carnegie Drive.

Mr. Mount believes that the Township has a moral obligation to accept the street, because it receives heavy traffic and is, therefore, a public necessity, and because property owners bought on it in 1946 believing that they were buying a paved Township street.

Mr. Cook disagreed, stating his belief that Committee, having just formulated a road-acceptance policy, should stick to it and not make exceptions.

Ordinances Passed. Following a public hearing to which no one came, Committee passed an amendment to the zoning ordinance adding fire companies and first aid squads to the list of buildings that can be built in specified areas with special permit.

Committee passed on first reading the ordinance to construct the Gulick Road-Shadybrook Lane sewer. Public hearing is scheduled for October 2 at 8 p.m.

Attorney Gordon Griffin was asked to ascertain what is required legally, if Committee decides to waive the building permit fee and certain sections of the building code for those who build fall-out shelters.

The Township has also given its approval to the installation of a radiological monitoring station in Township Hall. This is being done at the request of Captain Geoffrey Saxe, Princeton Civil Defense and Disaster Control director.

Snow removal. ... removal of "double dog-legs" ... municipal acquisition of streets ... public hearings on zoning regulations governing fire stations—all are as routine as local government can be. But they are part of governing properly, and on Monday night, it took a good three hours to see that they were handled in the best interests of the people of Princeton.

GRANDFATHERS OFFICIATE AT ORTHODOX WEDDING: A Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic wedding ceremony was performed in Princeton University Chapel Saturday for the first time in the history of the chapel. Miss Marina Grot Turkevich, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John Turkevich, was married to Dr. Robert A. Naumann, son of Mrs. Elsa H. Naumann, in a Greek Catholic ceremony performed by the Right Rev. Constantin Buketoff of Brooklyn, maternal grandfather of the bride. The nuptial blessing was given by the bride's paternal grandfather, Metropolitan Leonty, Archbishop of New York and Primate of the Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church in North America. Left, the newly-married couple is led around the altar by the Right Rev. Buketoff and right, the Archbishop bestows the nuptial blessing. The bridegroom is an assistant professor in the physics department and the chemistry department at Princeton. TOPICS 'Of the Town

206 BYPASS URGED
By Republican Candidates. In a statement released this week, Republican candidates for Borough office, Henry S. Patterson for Mayor, Alan W. Carrick and Joseph R. Wood for Council, urged that "Vigorous efforts must be made to persuade the State of New Jersey to give the very highest priority to the construction of the major bypass, 206-A."

The GOP hopefuls expressed concern not only over the sheer number of trucks crowding Princeton's streets, but to the safety threat to its citizens and students. They point out that, particularly at the foot of the hills of Bayard Lane and Washington Road, "the sputtering, back-firing and hissing of the air brakes of the onrushing truck behind is terrifying."

The three candidates further felt that Princeton cannot compete with cities closer to New York on a truck count basis as a benchmark of its needs for the bypass. "Rather," they said, "we must impress upon the State that even a few trucks can unalterably, adversely affect our Borough."

AID SOUGHT

chapters in an appeal for funds to help victims of the hurricane and tornadoes which struck the southern United States.

Jerrold S. Hanks, chairman of the local chapter, said voluntary contributions will be accepted by the Princeton group for transmittal to National Red Cross Headquarters. Mr. Hanks said the Princeton Chapter is acting in response to an appeal from E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American National Red Cross.

Mr. Hanks said Red Cross disaster workers will work with families needing help with building and repair of homes, replacement of essential household furniture and occupational equipment needed for family support.

ONE SLIGHTLY HURT

In Three-Car Accident. Giuseppe Gaudioso, 23, 32 Leigh Avenue, escaped with slight injuries Friday morning when he was involved, as the innocent third party, in a two-truck-one-car accident on Route 206 near the Watts Store.

The accident occurred when Wilmer Johnson, 19, Trenton, driving a light truck, halted at the Hillside Avenue "stop" sign and then started across the highway.

Mr. Johnson told Township police that, before he could cross the highway, his car stalled and he was stranded in the middle of the road. Meanwhile, a trailer-truck driven by Joseph Smith, 27, of Philadelphia, was approaching in the north-bound lane. To avoid striking the Johnson truck, Mr. Smith swerved his truck into the south-bound lane, just as Mr. Gaudioso appeared, driving south.

When Mr. Gaudioso saw the trailer-truck veer into his lane and come toward him, he pulled right as far as possible, but the timing and the speed were not in his favor, and the truck hit him anyway. He was treated at Princeton Hospital and released. Mr. Johnson was given en a summons for careless driving by Township police.

CAMPAIGN TO OPEN

Women Voters Hold Drive. A week long campaign for funds will be begun by the Princeton League of Women Voters at a breakfast Saturday at the home of Mrs. Edwin Gatchell, 61 Broadripple Drive. Mrs. Carl Danbury, of Trenton, a former president of the Hamilton Township League, will speak on the importance of fund raising.

Mrs. Ted Patlovitch, 73 Broadripple Drive, will assist this year's annual drive. Donations will be used by the League to help meet its budget of $3,445 for this year. Contributions will be solicited from a carefully selected group of citizens in the area. Mrs. Patlovitch said.

Among the League expenses for the year are election information sheets for all voters, annual candidates meetings and a voter information service. In addition, Mrs. Patlovitch pointed out, a series of radio discussions on WRB will be sponsored by the League this year.

Serving with Mrs. Patlovitch on the finance committee are Mrs. Sterling Brackett, 101 Red Hill Road; Mrs. William Duryee, 521 State Road; and Mrs. Stuart Wallace, 191 Mt. Lucas Road.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET

For Annual Outing. The Princeton Democratic Club will hold its annual outing on Saturday from 2 to 7 at Squatter's Grove on Quaker Bridge Road. Raymond Rodweller and Bernard Glover are co-chairmen for the event. Mrs. Raymond F. Male has charge of refreshments and Mrs. William Gordon is ticket chairman.

Invited guests include Gov. Robert B. Meyner, Richard J. Hughes, Democratic candidate for governor; Sido L. Ridolfi, state senator; Charles E. Farrington, Vincent R. Panaro, Edward J. Sweeney, assemblymen; John E. Curry, surrogate; George J. Sutcliffe, Frank J. Black, Charles Kovacs, freeholders; Raymond F. Male, mayor of Princeton Borough; and John J. Redding, Borough councilman. Pony rides and games for adults and children have been planned.

Soda, head of the department.
He reported that 837 pupils are studying modern languages this year, an increase of about 50 students over last

News Of The THEATRES

FALL SHOWS PLANNED

First Oct. 9 at McCarter. A one-man performance of "The Importance of Being Oscar" on October 9 will open the 1961-62 season at McCarter Theatre. It will feature the author, Michael MacLiammoir, who based the show on the writings of Oscar Wilde and had successful runs in both London and New York before taking it on the road.

Shaw's "Saint Joan" will open the regular repertory season on October 14. The rest of the fall program calls for Shaw's "Androcles and the Lion," and two Thornton Wilder offerings, "Our Town" and three one-act plays.

All four will be acted by a resident professional company whose members have been signed and are ready to go. According to Brooks Jones, McCarter producer, the theatre will be ready to announce the names of its actors in about a week.

Directors Named. Milton Lyon, who is in charge of the fall and winter drama series at McCarter, will direct "Saint Joan" and "Our Town" and Arthur Lithgow, Resident Director for McCarter, will direct the three one-act plays and "Androcles."

In the first season, both the McCarter "festival stage," used last year, and the proscenium will be used. "Our Town," which opened on McCarter's stage January 22, 1938, will use only props on a bare stage, as in the original production.

"Saint Joan," the season's opener, will be played on a modified apron stage adapted from last year's fall series. This year, McCarter will have a resident designer and a costume shop.

Guild Active. "We're delighted by the state-wide response to the McCarter Guild," says Mr. Jones. "We've been receiving 150 to 200 letters a day, either ordering reservations or asking to be on the Guild mailing lists."

The first Guild bulletin has been mailed to members. Designed like a small magazine, it contains excerpts from the writings and letters of Bernard Shaw, including quotations from a letter the playwright wrote to Alan Downer of Princeton University's English department. David Vaughn is editor of the bulletin.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Francis of Assisi (September 20-26) deals with the transformation of one Francis Bernardone from a rich, self-indulgent youth to a wandering holy man who ultimately founds the Franciscan Order.
The producers have attempted to record, not altogether successfully, both the adventure and the inner change involved in this transformation.

Francis (Bradford Dillman)
first leaves his small Italian town of Assisi to join the army of King Frederick in its 13th century effort to liberate Sicily from the hands of the infidels. But a mysterious voice brings him home, where he is imprisoned as a deserter. Upon release he dedicates himself to God with the vows of poverty, chastity and obedience and sets out as the "joyous beggar."

To highlight the conflict of spiritual good versus materialist evil, director Michael Curtiz carefully develops the tension between Francis and his companion, Paolo (Stuart Whitman), an almost modern
"heavy" whom the hero first meets on his way to war. The final break comes when Paolo loses the aristocratic Clare (Dolores Hart) to the religious life.

The film abounds in detail,
ranging from the pageantry recorded by photographer
Piero Portalupi to the score by Mario Nascimbene. In producing this near-epic, however, Plato A. Skouras has apparently tried to cover too much ground too thoroughly, because neither the religious message nor the adventure comes through with maximum clarity.

Come September (September 27-October 3) is a light-hearted comedy which combines in catch-all fashion the talents of Rock Hudson, Gina Lollobrigida, Bobby Darin,
Sandra Dee and Walter Slezak.
The plot concerns an American playboy (Hudson) who owns a beautiful Italian villa which he visits every September for a rendezvous with his Italian girl friend,
Miss Lollobrigida.

Unknown to the American
his caretaker, Slezak, converts the villa into an exclusive tourist hotel during the other 11 months of the year. When Hudson arrives in July he finds the place overrun with unhappily married teenagers.
His attempts to take care of the youths are sometimes reminiscent of Robert Cummings' old TV show.

However, Slezak turns in a wonderful performance as the conniving major-domo and Miss Lollobrigida provides a definite flair as a light comedienne. Hudson plays Rock Hudson without missing his hair once. The natural wonders of Italy and Miss Lollo-brigida are photographed magnificently in technicolor and cinemascope. Recommended for those who enjoy no-message comedies and are willing to accept Bobby Darin and Sandra Dee along with them.

should you buy a

SYLVAN POOL now?

here are the reasons why

1. Now is the time when Sylvan Pools' prices are the lowest ever on all 50 custom shapes & sizes. Choose an existing Sylvan shape or design your own with Sylvan.
2. Sylvan's prices now mean that you can save $250 up to $650 depending upon size. Example: a 20' x 40' pool priced at $4790 may now be purchased for $4390.
3. Pool shown above—the 3 pools in 1 Sylvan "S"—may now, for the first time, be purchased at no extra cost. Has clear swimming, separate diving & wading area.
4. By buying & installing your pool now you have the opportunity for arranging and completing all your landscaping before the next full swimming season arrives.
5. Buy and install your Sylvan Pool now and be assured of swimming from the first warm day next season. This means you will have 100% usage of your pool next year.
6. The savings you'll enjoy for installation now may, in many cases, cover the purchase of a Pool Heater that will extend swimming throughout the month of October.
7. A Sylvan-engineered pool permits the free-forming of ice during the winter months. Thus, you can ice-skate and make your pool a year 'round recreation center.
8. Take advantage of Sylvan's 11 years of vast experience which includes over 2400 pools built to date including hotels, motels, apartment houses, etc.

BOYS GROW

So Does Shop. The Prep Shop, once no larger than a size six vest, has grown almost as fast as the boy himself, and is now occupying impressive new quarters on Hulfish Street next to the Playhouse.

Within the new shop, customers will find clothes ranging from that small-sized vest up to teen sizes 35 to 42 long, displayed in cheerful pine surroundings with oak tables, sailboats pictures and wooden wheel lamps, all guaranteed to make a boy feel that he's in a man's world, even if mother comes in with him.

For the smaller customers, the Prep shop now has plaid Viyella shirts in sizes 6-12, zip-lined trench coats (the lining is orlon pile, the regular lining is Tattersall) and reversible vests. Huskies wear suits, sports jackets and slacks not only cut to their proportions, but designed solely with them in mind, using dark, very quiet slimming stripes, solids and the like.

This fall, of course, the muted, quiet look is not for huskies alone. Regular sizes 13-20 in the prep department may choose from earthen shades of brown, charcoal grey, olive. There's one stripe so quiet it's almost a solid grey and a collection of herringbones so conservative they might belong to a banker. One interesting jacket in this group is a Madras in orlon and wool with the autumn haze look that most Madras gets only after considerable wash and wear.

Outer jackets in this size are wide-wale corduroy and heavy poplin, some with hoods, some with orlon pile linings, and most of them washable. Robes are terry, Viyella plaid, cotton flannel and a splendidly cheerful paisley corduroy that doesn't look like corduroy at all.

Germany's long-sleeved pullover in velour is big this year. Prep has it in sage, black, brick red or light blue. There's an orlon wool knit wash and wear shirt in the brightest red you ever saw, and a shy kind of sage grey-green, and toast, olive and rust.

Long-sleeved shirts this year are designed with the snap-tab construction that allows one to wear a tie or tuck the tab under and open the collar like a sports shirt. Tattersalls and that good red, red.

The shop regards its Hitching Post as THE room, devoted as it is to the older man. For these sizes 32 to 42 long, the shop has the same fine group of jackets and slacks, with certain sophisticated additions like the magnificent sport jacket in sand suede with Skinner satin lining, pigskin buttons and a man-of-the-world air. Not an outer jacket, you understand, but a sport coat, and a superb one.

Cotton suede vests lined for reversible wear, a washable wool Viyella plaid shirt, from England, slightly bulkier than the ones worn by younger boys in the next department) the Robert Bruce sweaters, with V-neck and argyle or blazer stripe pattern, the orlon acrylic pullover that looks like Shetland and comes in a color called "pewter"—all are worthy of attention.

Perhaps the best thing about the new shop is that it provides the space for an All-Seasons department where you can buy swim trunks for Bermuda in January and fleece-lined jackets for Nova Scotia in July. Soon, the shop will have ski wear, teen-size dinner jackets—and straw hats to travel with the shorts.

NEW SHOP UP THE ROAD
For an Autumn Drive. Next time you have a sunny afternoon, drive north on Route 206 and turn onto the first black-top road on your right after the Wooden Wheel Inn. (The road is called Bridgepoint Road, but there is no sign.) About two hundred feet along this road you will find a pleasant white country house with a building in the rear called The Carriage House.

Here, in two spacious beamed rooms, is the kind of antique collection that can

Tan Your Hide

Figurama, in the 206 Center, now offers you a way to keep your summer tan, acquire a winter tan, or keep the winter one when you get back from Florida.

The salon has an ultraviolet lamp consisting of three six-foot tall Westinghouse tubes and a platform like a scale. You stand on the platform, draw a circular curtain modestly around you, and turn on the lamp, setting its dial according to your sensitivity to the sun. The platform then revolves, making one complete turn a minute so that you get roasted all over evenly, like a chicken on a spit.

Doesn't take long (two minutes or so is equal to about an hour at the beach), and you don't have to participate in any exercise programs to enjoy the benefits of the lamp. Call for an appointment: WA 4-4800.

lose a whole afternoon for the aficionado. Mrs. Drake, the owner, specializes in small pieces, like table wear, shawls, handwork and the like, but she has several large pieces, too.

Look at the mahogany Empire buffets, for example, with more storage space than a modern storage wall, or the Victorian what-not for people who collect Victorian what-nots. A full length black horse-hair sofa would be splendid in a room done in the 19th century manner. The pine jelly cupboard may even be snapped up before you get there.

Among the smaller pieces are several rush-bottom chairs and a charming little "Lincoln rocker"—low and armless, with a curving, upholstered back. An Empire rocker has more massive and dignified lines.

Pressed glass and crystal are among the treasures on Mrs. Drake's "small-pieces". —Continued on Page 8 the United States and the Soviet Union. He is ably aided by Sandra Dee and John Gavin, (the leads from "Tammy Tell Me True"), Akim Tamiroff and a fine group of supporting players.

"Romanoff and Juliet" occasionally lacks subtlety, especially when Ustinov sets out to prove that love conquers all with the romance between the son of the Soviet ambassador and the daughter of the American ambassador as an example. But when Ustinov's humor is involved, this doesn't matter. Recommended.

Man in the Moon (September 25-30). Kenneth More, one of England's top actors, has his abilities severely limited in this fair British comedy based on sending an astronaut to the moon. More is cast as a professional "guinea pig" for researchers because of his immunity to any disease. He's fired, however, when he adamantly refuses even to sniffle for a cold research project.

After his dismissal, the staid gentleman winds up in the astronaut program and is selected to be the first man to be shot to the moon. The capsule is launched from an Australian firing range and misses the moon by about 220,000 miles, landing in the Australian bush country with easily anticipated confusion. Also wasted, as far as acting talents are concerned, are Shirley Anne Field, the star of "Saturday Night and Sunday Morning," as a blond strip-teaser, and Charles Gray as a jealous astronaut. As with most average English spoofs, the story fails to sustain audience interest or concern throughout the 98-minute running time.

table. Pressed glass is a particular favorite of hers, so you'll find many pieces. Ironstone and Majolica are represented, too.

Of all the things in her shop, Mrs. Drake is proudest of three pieces of handwork, a hundred-year-plus set in bedspread with hand-painted floral designs and stripes of linen lace, and two splendidly preserved black lace shawls, one of them "priceless," Mrs. Drake says.

ON WITH THE NEW

At Viking. For home-owners whose tastes run to the contemporary rather than to the antique, Viking Furniture on Route 33 has some new furniture from the Scandinavian countries: not just Scandinavian-style, but Scandinavian designed and made, which is quite different, as you know.

A walnut or teak flip-top table that starts out as a modest 40 x 55 and flips open to a boastful 110 inches long, without the use of leaves, is the obvious star of the new fall group. It's designed by Folke Ohlsson, who also did a sofa, love-seat, chair collection. In this seating group, the backs are slim with three loose cushions and the arms are gently folded over to continue the slim, curving line. Sofa is 69½ inches long with walnut legs. Viking has the sofa on the floor in oatmeal basketweave, but you can choose from 300 other fabrics.

A suspended buffet — or storage group for any room — comes in multiples of 31 inches, so you can stretch out the units as long as the measurements of your wall will oblige. There's a bar, a unit with graduated drawers, another with shelves behind sliding doors. Each one is 20 inches tall.

School Registration Set

An Open House for the registration for all classes in the Princeton Adult School will be held this Thursday afternoon and evening in the cafeteria of Princeton High School. This will be the only opportunity to register in person and later registrants will be required to pay a late fee.

Classes will begin on Thursday, September 28, and run for 10 consecutive Thursday evenings with the exception of Thanksgiving. Individuals are required to register for all courses with the exception of the two main lecture series where single admissions are possible.

The Adult School Committee urges registration at the Open House in order to determine the exact size of classes and the possibility of dropping some courses through lack of interest. Further information on the Adult School curriculum may be obtained from committee members.

Above them, Viking hangs a group of three sand castings done by Mike Katfol, a Princeton artist. She has an owl with cavernous eyes, a careless daisy and an abstract that turns out to be a crowded city street with TV antennas. The relief designs produced by the sand casting method produce fascinating lights and shadows that vary with the time of day. We suggest you investigate.

Well, to get back to furniture: Viking likes the tall secretary desk by George Tanner, a sleeked down version of the old-style secretary, with sliding doors at the bottom, a slide-in writing surface, tambour doors ten inches high that close over pigeonholes and three small drawers, and four open shelves on the top.

Ib Kofod-Larsen's Cintique lounge chair from Denmark has a walnut frame and an ottoman. You can have it in Kennedy-rocker style, too.

Small flip-top tables (no 110-inch extension in these) are designed to serve as stools or end-tables, depending on whether you flip the padded top or the smooth table surface. On these useful little stool-tables you can serve coffee from the hundred-and-one white demi-tasse cups Viking has in its cupboard narrow cylinders for Dutch coffee with cinnamon, Irish coffee or cafe Capuccino; bulbous cups for cafe Diablo, mugs for mocha Java and flat-bottomed standard cups for anything you like. Recipes, too.

UNCOVER THEATER

Seminary Crew Returns. Columns and building blocks from the ancient Roman Theater at Petra, Jordan, have been uncovered for the first time since an ancient earthquake wrecked the Biblical city as an American restoration crew completed the first stage of its work this summer. The crew, sponsored by the Princeton Theological Seminary, is under the direction of Dr. Philip C. Hammond.

The first year's work, a stratigraphic study of the site, was completed this summer. Three trenches were dug fifty meters across the debris-filled floor of the theater and partial restoration was begun.

Ten Years Ago In Princeton

TOWN TOPICS Sept. 29, 1951 A year earlier, Princeton University had estimated a September 1951 enrollment possibly as low as 1800, based on the government's manpower demands to meet the Korean fighting. . . a broadscale deferment plan at the college level was placed in effect, however, and Princeton began its 206th year with a record freshman class of 804 and a total of 2950 students on the campus.

The Community Chest began its annual campaign for funds, seeking a goal of $112,000 to figure more than doubled today as the United Community Fund begins its quest for $250,000. . . some two score police, police reserves and neighbors conducted an intensive hunt in the vicinity of Hibben Road and Mercer Street for 5-year old Mary Loetscher, who was missing for several hours. . . about the time searchers became quite worried, Mary was found by her father—the Rev. Leferts A. Loetscher—just where all little girls should be at that time of night—in bed.

Officers of the student council at Princeton High School were installed for 1951-52 John McElroy, president, Richard Walton, vice-president, Priscilla Cortelyou, corresponding secretary, Sarah Christian, recording secretary, and Josephine Freda, treasurer. . . the YWCA made plans for a dinner for 200 to mark 30 years of service to Princeton, with Mrs. E. Harris Harbison named chairman of the committee on arrangements.

McCart Theatre, opening its fall season with "Mr. Roberts," announced plans to follow with Edward G. Robinson in "Darkness at Noon." . . Jane Russell and Robert Mitchum were at The Playhouse in "His Kind of Woman," while The Garden offered "Kon-Tiki," a voyage across the Pacific by raft.

SEMINAR SERIES SET: Child Guidance is Topic. A special fall series of seminars designed to aid parents in guiding their children toward healthy personality traits will begin Tuesday, October 10 at the YW-YMCA Center. The program entitled "Your Child Grows Up," will meet every other Tuesday evening at 8 p.m. and is co-sponsored by the Princeton Branch of the Child Guidance Center of Mercer County and the "Y."

Geared to children of elementary school age, the programs will feature specialists from the center acting as resource and discussion leaders. Among the discussion topics will be discipline, responsibility and attitudes, sex education and the social child. "Problems related to growing up" is the first topic set for Oct. 10.

Representing the Center will be Dr. Nathaniel Roonin, child psychiatrist, Mrs. Martha Montgomery, clinical psychologist and Daniel Gotthelb senior psychiatric social worker. Parents of the Princeton community are invited to enroll for the seminar at the "Y" Center. Admission will be limited and a small fee will be charged.

EVERYBODY'S INVITED

To Dance, Young people throughout the Princeton area have been invited to attend a dance this Friday night sponsored by the Young Republican Club of Princeton. The affair will be held from 8:30 to midnight in the Chambers Street Firehouse with music by Allen Rasley and free refreshments. Admission is $50 per person.

Chaperones will be the County Committee for Teen-Age Activities, the Princeton Young Republican president, Miss McDonald, Matty, and Mr. and Mrs. William Wallace. Representing the County Committee for Teen-Age Activities will be Nancy Thomas, Morgan Kolman and Sandra Jefferson.

APARRI IN NEW STUDIO

At 217 Nassau, Aparri School of the Dance, founded and directed by Mila Gibbons, has moved into permanent quarters at 217 Nassau Street opposite St. Paul's School. Classes will be held in the small building behind the house on the street, a structure which Miss Gibbons has remodeled to serve as her studio.

The school has made seven moves in the ten years of its existence. Originally, classes were held in Rose Cottage, which has since been torn down. Next, Aparri held classes at 14 Spring Street and later moved to the building on Witherspoon which was at that time the YMCA and is now the Borough Engineer's Building.

From there, Miss Gibbons took her classes to the Chapin School on Snowden Lane, and when the school moved to Mercer Road, Aparri went along. Finally, the school rented quarters from the new Unitarian Church. Miss Gibbons considered the possibility of moving from Princeton because of the difficulty in finding quarters, but the Nassau Street property became available and she purchased it late this spring.

This summer, four Aparri students studied at the School of Ballet Repertory (Gretchen Ward, Pamela Whitcraft, Kirsty Pollard and Shelly Barker). A former student Ben Piazza, Princeton '56 won a scholarship to the Repertory school and one other student Eve Gardner, is following the full professional course at the School of American Ballet.

In Township Court Action, George Barclay, 52, 232 Witherspoon Street, was fined $45 in Township Court by Magistrate James Scott Hill after conviction as a disorderly person. Barclay pleaded guilty to a charge of using obscene language on Leigh Avenue. Fines levied by Magistrate.

WOULD GIVE THEIR NAME TO A HURRICANE: Neither Eileen (left) nor Joyce nor Carol (center), whose hurricane namesake lashed the countryside several years ago, object to the weather bureau's practice of using girls' names to identify hurricanes. In the process of telling why, several of those interviewed by TOWN TOPICS used some interesting adjectives in defining a woman's temperament. (Staff Photo.)

Question of the Week

Question: Do you object to the weather bureau's practice of designating hurricanes by women's names?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Mrs. Charles Baer, Meadowbrook Drive, housewife: No, I certainly do not. I think women's names make anything more attractive and if it will help put some lightness into anything unpleasant, such as a hurricane, then I think we women ought to be glad to lend our names.

Miss Sandra Waymen, Lake Drive, Student at Goucher College: No, it doesn't upset me. You certainly couldn't name them after men. Hurricanes just don't suit their personalities. The men would never put up with it, in the first place. Their pride would never allow it. Women have been called so many things that naming a hurricane after them doesn't bother them. Women are the scapegoat for most everything.

Miss Eileen Filipowicz, Princeton-Hightstown Road, Cranbury, PHS sophomore: No, I think it's a good idea because girls are always blowing their tops and causing a lot of commotion just like hurricanes.

Miss Carol White, 166 Washington Road, PHS sophomore: No, I don't mind them using my name. I think they should, because girls are wild and they are unpredictable. But that's not saying boys aren't either!

Miss Joyce Fasanella, 42 Humbert Street, PHS junior: I think it is flattering to girls whose names have been used. I think they like to see and read their names in the paper. Girls are supposed to be unpredictable and that's the way a hurricane is.

Mrs. Erica Wilhelm, 268 Mt. Lucas Road, housewife: No, I think it is immaterial. And if you make any associations, then that only reflects your own opinion of women.

Miss Nancy Knowles, 252 Hamilton Avenue, bank secretary: No, it really doesn't make any difference to me. It's been that way so long I guess I'm just used to it. I think it is appropriate, too. You get a woman mad and she can cause a lot of trouble, too.

Mrs. Anker Halvorsen, Griggstown, registered nurse: None whatsoever. I think it is sort of nice. I think women have their times when they are slightly explosive like a hurricane. I think it's very fitting.

Miss Kathani Elo, Pretty Brook Farm, student, Catherine Gibbs School: Speaking as a female, I don't like it because it's unfair. It's picking on us. The reason I heard they do it is because women are fickle and capricious, and I guess that is a substantial reason, because I imagine we are.

Mrs. E. Donald Gustafson, Greenwood Avenue, Hopewell, housewife: No, I don't object. As a matter of fact, "Carla" is my oldest daughter's name. It has been kind of exciting for her to see her name in the papers every day and read about it.

Mrs. James Burke, 158 Springdale Road, housewife: No, I see no other thing to call them. Women are fickle; so are hurricanes. That's why they probably did it that way.

Miss Sylvia Lewis, Skillman, secretary-receptionist: Actually, it doesn't make that much difference to me. I suppose a hurricane is named after a woman because women have the reputation for not being able to make up their minds and not knowing where they are going. But I don't agree with that. I think it is a 50-50 proposition.

Miss Ruth Yeske, Lambertville, typist for Princeton University: No, I don't believe so. Hurricanes are hurricanes. It is just part of the weather and it isn't something that is going to affect me. They are there and I don't care what they call them. This reminds me of a joke I heard about the same question. The answer was, "Why not? Have you ever head of a hisacene?"

Mrs. Edward Tully, 17 Dempsey Avenue, housewife: No, I think it is rather interesting. For one thing, you remember the hurricane a little better, particularly if you yourself have suffered at the hands of a Carol or a Donna. The one cheerful note about a hurricane is that it can have a female name which may be amusing to some people.

Mrs. Edward Guhh, 301 Elm Road, housewife: No, I think it's rather flattering. It's usually a phenomenon when it happens and creates quite a furor. I can only add I see why they name them after women.

Miss Mary Kerney, Tall Timbers Drive, writer: Not a bit. I think it is only fitting. Women are basically destructive, headstrong, and unpredictable.

Miss Marsha Wright, Voorhees Avenue, Pennington, Princeton University secretary: Not a bit. It seems to me to be a good method of identification. I believe people would rather have a non-technical term for something that is going to be in the paper so much. I don't think women's names, per se, have anything to do with it.

Miss Peggy Stott, Morrisville, Pa., profiler: It doesn't bother me. I feel it is like women's nature. They are stormy and flare up all the time. I can see the weather bureau's point.

RCA OPENS NEW LAB
Dr. Rajchman Named Head.
A new Computer Research Laboratory has been established at the David Sarnoff Research Center of RCA. Dr. James Hillier, RCA vice-president, has announced Dr. Jan A. Rajchman, a pioneer in computer research, has been appointed director of the new laboratory.

The move was described by Dr. Hillier as a modification of the RCA Laboratories organization necessitated by the company's rapid growth in research, development and production activities in the electronic computer field. "The computer group has achieved such size and status that it can best function as a separate Computer Research Laboratory, on the same level as our Electronic Research, Materials Research and other principal divisions," he said.

At the same time, Dr. Hillier pointed out, these other laboratories will continue as in the past to support the applied work of Dr. Rajchman and his group by pressing forward with the new or improved materials and devices that can best serve tomorrow's computer requirements.

"Dr. Rajchman and his associates have played a prominent part in RCA's computer research effort both by originating new concepts and by applying to computer requirements the basic advances made elsewhere in the laboratories," Dr. Hillier said. Dr. Rajchman is a recipient of the 1960 Morris Liebmann Memorial Prize of the Institute of Radio Engineers and also several RCA Achievement Awards.

Born in London, England, in 1911, Dr. Rajchman attended the College de Geneve in Geneva, Switzerland, and the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology, where he received the degree of Doctor of Science. As a research engineer with the RCA Manufacturing Company from 1936 to 1942, he made pioneering contributions to the development of the electron multiplier tube.

During World War II, Dr. Rajchman was among the first to apply electronic techniques to computers, in response to the urgent military need for improved fire-control methods. Among his other major contributions is the magnetic core memory system that is used for information storage.

RABI JOINS FACULTY

Holds History Fellowship.
Dr. Isidor I. Rabi, winner of the 1944 Nobel Prize in Physics, has joined the Princeton University faculty as Shreve Fellow in History and Visiting Senior Fellow of the Council of Humanities. President Robert F. Goheen has announced. Dr. Rabi's appointment to the Shreve Fellowship marks the first time that anyone other than a professional historian has held the award.

"Our Department of History has been increasingly concerned with the relations of science and history, and with the role of science in recent and contemporary history and affairs," Dr. Goheen stated. "We feel we can profit greatly from the counsel and experience of Professor Rabi as a scientist who is interested in the humanities and understands their methods and needs."

A special sub-committee of the Council of the Humanities has been formed to work with Dr. Rabi. Professor Eric F. Goldman, a leading American historian, will head the group which will also include Professor Whitney J. Oates, chairman of the committee that administers the Council of the Humanities; and Professors Charles C. Gillispie and John A. Wheeler.

Report from THE MAYOR

A Great Heritage. Princeton took time out on Sunday afternoon to honor a building, a document and a man. Each has had an important and lasting effect upon the course of American history. First, in two-century-old Nassau Hall, President Goheen accepted from the National Park Service of the United States Department of the Interior a certificate formalizing what everyone had long taken for granted: that this venerable old structure is indeed one of the truly great historic landmarks in our country.

A few moments later, under sponsorship of the Princeton chapter of the D.A.R., the 174th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States was observed with special ceremony at the Firestone Library. And as a most important part of this occasion, Princeton paid special honor to the outstanding scholar, teacher and interpreter of the Constitution, Professor Edward Samuel Corwin.

Acknowledgement. It is safe to claim that no other town in America could match the Constitution Day ceremonies of Princeton; because no other town could claim the contribution-filled career of Corwin. Letters acknowledging his inspiration came from the White House, and from two former occupants of it, Presidents Truman and Eisenhower.

Former students were also heard from, including UN Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, Cambridge visiting professor Clinton Rossiter, and recent Korean UN Ambassador Channing Liem. This Mayor had a chance to acknowledge his personal debt to Professor Corwin; for it was just 20 years ago this week that I began the series of many wonderful visits to the second-floor study on Prospect for graduate seminars with this dedicated teacher.

It was fitting that a number of children—the Mayor's four included—should have been on hand to sharpen their sense of history on Sunday afternoon. For Corwin and the Constitution mean much to America, her past, present and future.

Job Well Done. Since 1930, a group of volunteers operating under the name of the Playgrounds Committee has been serving this community with ever-increasing effectiveness. At last Tuesday's meeting of Mayor and Council, the Committee's Chairman, Ellis G. Willard, dropped by to present in person the 1961 report of the fourteen-member group.

With a total cash budget of only $13,660 the committee under its capable supervisor, C. Edward "Ham" Christian, carried out its most successful summer program, serving 1,847 registered (and many more unregistered) youngsters at seven Borough and five Township locations, with a total daily average attendance of 883. "Jess" Willard dropped by, he said, "to thank the Mayor and Council for their support." Actually, it was more important to mark the occasion as an opportunity for the governing body, on behalf of the entire community, to thank the Playground Committee and its fine staff for a job well done.

Tree Planting. Last week's meeting of Mayor and Council covered a wide variety of subjects affecting the future of Princeton, including some momentous problems sketched in an impressive one-hour presentation by Civil Defense and Disaster Control Coordinator, Captain Geoffrey Sage.

More will be heard from that area of municipal concern when Councilman Walker's Council committee weighs and reports on Capt. Sage's several recommendations for Borough action.

It is hoped, however, that in the press of these and other weighty agenda items, the town will not lose sight of one item that also will have a long-range effect in maintaining the beauty of Princeton. That is the report of the Public Works committee that its annual tree planting program is again offered to Borough residents.

The Borough will pay one half of the cost of a tree (up to $20) and the Borough staff will plant trees under the program. Heretofore, the policy has been limited to plantings near the curb on Borough right-of-way.

It was noted this year, however, that the committee takes a tolerant view and will cooperate in purchase and planting of trees "clearly visible" from the right of way. Visitors to Princeton always remark about the beauty of Princeton's trees. It is important that we continue to guard this part of our town's treasure by annual additions and replacements.

"Tell It To The Mayor!" The regular weekly open house sessions will be held on Friday, September 22, and on Friday, September 29, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

BOAT COURSE SET

By Princeton Adult School. A course in Seamanship and Small Boat Handling will be among those given by the Princeton Adult School, beginning Thursday, September 28. The cost of the course is $10 for the series, and registration should be made at the Open House this Thursday afternoon and evening at the Princeton High School.

Flotilla No. 47, U. S. Coast Guard Auxiliary, of Princeton, will direct the course. To correct earlier confusion concerning course costs, the Jewelry Making and Tole Painting fees are $15 and $12.50, respectively.

Lester's Appraisal Challenged.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
We commend Town Topics' fine sense of public service in recently making available for general scrutiny Professor Lester's urban renewal memorandum written somewhat over 2 1/2 years ago—January 1959, to be exact. We note that, in its editing for current use, the date "1961" has been substituted in the text, near the end, for the date "1959" used when the memorandum was originally written. This simple change will not, however, suffice to update this memento of the thoughts that once passed through the mind of Councilman Lester (Dem.).

For instance
1. The Princeton Borough Housing Authority now has the federal government's approval for the building of more than 12-14 units of public housing wholly irrespective of Urban Renewal. What the Housing Authority is now considering is the building of these units as housing for the elderly. The Housing Authority moves with the times. Their proposed building operation is not keyed to the Jackson Street project. This is an announced fact.

PERSONALLY, I ALWAYS MARKET ON THURSDAY: A couple of matrons met at the Princeton Shopping Center one day last week, parked the market basket and began to chat about prices and children and the weather, the way shopping matrons always do. They attracted quite a little crowd, but didn't seem to mind a bit. A weekend animal show was responsible for their visit to Princeton. (Staff Photo.)

2. "The additional tax revenue with Urban Renewal might be as much as $50,000 a year for a half-million dollars over a decade." We can multiply, too, and in 20 years this makes the impressive figure of a tidy $1,000,000,—that is to say it "might be." But there are several things wrong with this prediction: (a) In 1959 it was generally assumed that P. M. I. now P. S. I. would build something as a redevelopment, but in June, 1961, President Goheen stated that P. S. I. will not build on any lands it does not own now. P. S. I. now owns most of the Blight Area, but the Urban Renewal technique compels the Borough's acquisition of these lands and then their sale to a redeveloper. It certainly now is clear to any thinking person that, if the Borough takes these P. S. I. lands under Urban Renewal, it isn't going to be able to inveigle P. S. I. to buy them back in order to build something under restrictions limited to the ideas of some people at Borough Hall. These ideas, of course, remain veiled in mystery—but we will return to that matter later on.

(b) A very simple calculation based on the tax rate of 1958, which was the latest available to Councilman Lester in January, 1959, and on the Borough's policy of assessing at 33 1/3% of true value, shows that the possible rateable which just possibly "might" bring the Borough an annual tax revenue of $50,000, most have been a rateable assessed at $856,000 and, accordingly, actually worth three times that amount, or over 2 1/2 millions.

Now, whenever anyone is about to build an improvement of this magnitude here in Princeton, the news always circulates ahead of time. Since the construction of Twenty Nassau Street, built during the boom of the 1920s, can anyone think of any tax-paying improvement of that size which has been built in the Borough, aside from the late Mr. Edgar Palmer's Square and the facilities (including two inns) built either by Princeton University or on its behalf? Just what was Professor Lester imagining in 1959 and who was his potential redeveloper?

Let Urban Renewal doesn't really build rateables or anything else. A Title I urban renewal project is merely an undertaking in site clearance. The "project" definitely ends when the site is acquired, made ready for redevelopment, and sold off. Then the accounting between Uncle Sam and the municipality is struck and the books are closed. The municipality sells to a private redeveloper and pleads with him or, if you tribute real money to fight this first of several such schemes recently devised for the Borough.

Now, of course, Mr. Lester's memorandum is supposed to convince us by its very figures. Unfortunately, no satisfactory break-down is offered. The totals he uses are airy conclusions. We asked a financier to analyze these figures. He reported back that they were an insufficient basis for an appraisal.

Of course, we don't know what facts are being withheld, if any. We have always given the Borough planners the benefit of the doubt and assumed that they had some additional end-product in view beyond the street relocation. Apparently, however, Mayor Male doesn't choose to give us citizens any really informative facts and figures about this all-too-shadowy enterprise.

We do have some figures, though. Probably they are just as good as Professor Lester's. We got these from the New Jersey Bureau of Housing.

They tell us in a tabulation issued at the turn of '60-'61 that the Urban Renewal Administration is carrying this Princeton project on its books as one requiring a $652,066 net deficit, with the Borough's out-of-pocket share to be $217,000. At that cost the Borough can rebuild Jackson Street via Urban Renewal.

Obviously this is not the bargain it has been represented to be. We could do it alone for less by a simple land trade with P. S. I.—the bed of the existing Jackson Street in return for the new right of way. Professor Lester brushed this normal business-like solution aside as apparently being unworthy of serious exploration. Indeed the decision to use Urban Renewal had been taken before the writing of his memorandum in 1959.

It was on December 19, 1958, that the Borough Council voted to sustain the Planning Board's original Blight vote. In these circumstances, we must assume that the Lester memorandum was written for the record, rather than as a fair appraisal of alternatives, as it purports to be. Apparently the alternative of building a new Jackson Street without Urban Renewal has never been seriously examined to this day.

The path chosen was the Urban Renewal route. Against its consequent headaches it is not much comfort to know that, as Professor Lester promised, the Borough can "get its share" by dipping into Uncle Sam's pocket to the tune of almost half a million dollars—taking money that some big city could well use to cure a real slum.

As Town Topics says, all citizens have the right to know all the facts. With them each of us could judge with what justification Urban Renewal was chosen and at what cost. If the proposal is to bring in a speculative builder and turn him loose to build a "traffic generator," as some fear, that also would be part of the Borough's cost. It is high time that Mayor Male and the Blight proponents give us the full details as to this first redevelopment project and all the others to follow.

TIGERS CAN RUN
Offense Gaining Punch. One of the most appealing characteristics of Princeton's 1960 football team was its ability to gain ground in the most basic form of attack—speed and power in running the ball. With tailbacks Hugh Scott and Jack Sullivan leading the offense, the Tigers gained 2132 yards rushing—averaging better than five yards every time a back tucked the ball under his arm and headed into enemy territory.

While this season does not appear to promise the overall brightness that was generated by last year's fine 7-2 mark, there is already considerable evidence that Princeton will again have an exciting running game. Backfield ability there is considerable quantity, so is inexperience, but that will be replaced by polish as the season progresses.

As the campaign develops, it is probable that the Tigers will be somewhat deeper at each of the ball-carrying positions than they were a year ago. Behind Dan Terpack are a couple of sophomore wing backs (Jim Rockenbach and Joe Russell) who are expected to develop well, while Bill Laird has plenty of know-how to back up the veteran John Henrich at quarterback.

FAMILIAR FIGURES: Pete Porietis (45) and Hugh MacMillan (47) are sophomore tailbacks on the Princeton football team from whom considerable assistance is expected during a rebuilding year. They've been assigned the numbers worn by the Tigers' solid one-two punch at tailback last fall—Jack Sullivan and Hugh Scott.

The starting fullback assignment is about the only position still up for grabs. Topflight ability is not yet evident here, but there are four candidates (juniors Bill Merlini, Brad Urquhart, Dave Gouldin and senior Phil Carlini) battling for the job. If none holds the promise that Don Kornruopf had, depth will at least be a welcome asset.

Tailbacks Developing Well. The position that, more than any other, puts wheels under the Tiger is shaping up in very satisfactory fashion. Letterman Greg Riley has two good weeks of practice behind him and appears set to start against Rutgers a week from Saturday.

The two top sophomore prospects have shown considerable potential, particularly in last Saturday's scrimmage against Lehigh. Both Pete Porietis and Hugh MacMillan have extreme speed. They are gaining in ability to use their blocking and they show signs of developing the passing accuracy demanded by the acting position.

Defense the Question. The three-hour session with Lehigh in which Princeton prevailed, four touchdowns to two) showed the promise of a good running game, but also indicated that the Tigers have much rebuilding to do from tackle to tackle. This is hardly news: of the seven players who started last November's game against Dartmouth in the Princeton line, only right end Hank Large is back this fall.

Lehigh chopped up the Tiger forward wall fairly consistently—a development that was traceable partially to the fact that the defense had not taken the time to concentrate on stopping T football so far this year. But there is also a sizeable degree of inexperience which will work against the Tigers when they face a largely veteran eleven next week.

One personnel change has been made in the past week, and with it goes a place in the starting lineup to the first sophomore, Ed Costello, a 210-lb. tackle from West Roxbury, Mass., has earned a regular position and will pair with senior Andy Connor.

Both have considerable promise—in fact Dick Colman is already high in praise of Connor—but neither is a tackle by trade. Costello played center for the freshmen last year and Connor was a guard last fall and a back as a sophomore.

 particularly with the team's eagerness to atone for an early shoving around at the hands of the visitors, who had benefited from spring practice. It was a ding-dong affair during the first half of the session, with the Tigers taking control in authoritative fashion well before the close.

The Tiger head coach remarked that "there is real ability on this squad, but it will naturally be offset for a while by the inexperience." He would like nothing better than to have another scrimmage this weekend, but NCAA rules limit teams to ten meetings with other colleges. Thus if a nine-game schedule is in effect, only one outside scrimmage may be held.

Rutgers will come into Palmer Stadium favored to hang a fourth straight defeat on Princeton, which has not taken the Scarlet's measure since the 1957 Ivy League champions eked out a 7-0 decision in the opener. The New Brunswick eleven is good-sized, has lost relatively little by graduation and has a particularly solid group of sophomores.

While nothing will be conceded to Rutgers in advance, it is generally accepted that a Princeton victory would be a clear-cut upset. More and more, the outcome of the second and third games of the season—against Columbia at New York and Penn here—are being considered the likely turning point of the 1961 season.

If the Tigers can handle these early (and openly optimistic) opponents, they will be virtually certain to go on to a winning season. However, if their inexperience leads them downhill to an 0-3 start this fall, it can hardly be other than "look out below."

PHS IS FURTHER AHEAD

But Moving Slowly. With scrimmages against Mount Holly and Hunterdon Central behind him, Princeton High School football coach Joe Jingoli reported that his Little Tiger squad was "further ahead" but still "moving slowly. You can't build a team in two weeks," he said.

Jingoli revealed that his squad had fared better against Hunterdon, which it scrimmaged Saturday, than it had against Wednesday's opponent, Mount Holly. "We ran better Saturday, especially up the middle and around end. We looked better defensively, too."

One discordant note in the Blue and White's slow progress is the failure of its passing attack to jell. The problem is further compounded by the unexpected academic loss of Gil Fisher who was the only returning back with any passing experience. "If we had Fisher back," said Jingoli, "half of our backfield problems would be mastered."

A bright spot in the backfield is the fullback position. Veteran plunger Charlie Pemberton shows every indication of bettering his fine performance of last year. He is getting help from a newcomer to the Princeton team, Dave Shields, who, according to Jingoli, "looks like a pretty good boy." A junior, Dave came from Fairborn High School in Ohio where he played defensive end. At Princeton, he will play halfback on defense.

The situation in the Little Tiger line can best be described as fluid. Mount Holly ball carriers consistently cracked the PHS defensive line for good gains, underlining the work that lies ahead for defensive coach Jerry Groniger. Jingoli felt, in extension, that the Delaware T employed by them was an unfamiliar formation for his players to defend against. One player singled out by Jingoli for his defensive play at end was sophomore Jim McKeever.

ALL-STARS WIN, 4-1

Ivy Inn Beaten. The All-Stars defeated champion Ivy Inn, 4-1, Saturday at Marquand Park. Because a wedding that afternoon interfered with the plans of a number of players on both sides to be present, a novel situation was adopted when each team could field but eight players.

A spectator was drafted from the crowd to round out each side. The All-Stars picked John Cunningham, installed him at second base and he promptly returned the favor by driving in the first run of the game. Ivy Inn drafted Carmine Cirullo, used him in right field and both he and Cunningham did well defensively.

Harry Kahny worked the first seven innings for the All-Stars, picking up the victory, with Bob Cook hurling the last two. Ted Rutkowski was tagged with the defeat.

After getting a run in the second, the victors wrapped it up with a pair in the sixth. Joe Toto drove Dave Hoadley in, stealing second a moment later and coming home himself on another base hit. The lone Ivy Inn run was chalked up in the ninth on a single by George Sackie that scored Tex Sannino.

HUN SQUAD BOLSTERED

By New Players. Faced with a serious problem of depth, Hun School football coach Hawley Waterman has found some unexpected help. Four transfer students and a 6'3", 185-pound freshman will enable Waterman to take a long step toward his goal of fielding two full-strength varsity teams.

Heading this rescue quintet are Gig Geiger and Ned Allen. Formerly both boys were halfbacks on the St. Louis, Mo. Country Day School football team. Ned is learning both halfback positions in Coach Waterman's modified split T formation, a task made more difficult by his having run from a single wing formation in St. Louis. He is a senior.

Finding the adjustment even more difficult is Geiger, a junior, who has been moved to the tackle position by Waterman in an attempt to plug up a gap in that position. Gig is a big boy and "we need his 210 pounds on the line," said Waterman, adding, "Gig is going all out to make the team."

Another newcomer who is learning multiple assignments is Doug Gillespie, 185, who played his football in upstate New Jersey last fall. Doug is learning both guard and tackle positions. Waterman reported, and is capable of starting at any of the four interior line spots," Doug is a junior.

From Long Island has come Joe D'Antona, a sophomore, who "has been running in the starting backfield." Joe, somewhat light at 167, is a "fairly good passer" and has been battling Bob Kay for the right halfback position. Waterman has also experimented with D'Antona at fullback.

The new freshman with the impressive dimensions is Lonnie Kaplan from Trenton. "He's a comer, all right. Certainly if he doesn't make it this year, he'll be ready next year," said Waterman. His age and inexperience, notwithstanding, Kaplan's chances of playing are good. The end position for which he is vying is one of the weakest spots in the Hun line.

One Big Happy Family. In spite of these newcomers, the entire Hun squad, including freshmen, numbers only 45.

TROPHY WINNERS: Members of the Sportsmen's Softball League with the trophies won by their teams during the past season: Dick Hoadley, King's Inn, with the playoff trophy; Bob Kehon, Ivy Inn, with the runner-up trophy for the playoff; and Pete Sannino, Ivy Inn manager, with the league championship trophy won by his team during the regular season. (TOWN TOPICS Photo by Richard Steiner.)

and Waterman expects this Spares were tied with four will drop off somewhat as more marginal candidates drop out. "I can't afford to split my squad into varsity and junior varsity teams," Waterman said. "We're all just one big happy family."

Waterman reported that he noted a vast improvement in the squad with the break in the hot weather. He has been forced to experiment a lot, particularly in the line where the over-riding problem of lack of depth is more acute than in the backfield. The only positions that have been settled to date are left halfback, quarterback, center and left tackle.

A scrimmage against Notre Dame High School held Monday and another with Peddie on Saturday in Hightstown will enable Waterman to juggle further his limited number of players in various positions. "Their attitude and spirit have been very good," said Waterman, "and I am well pleased so far with our progress."

Hun opens its 1961 season September 30, meeting Pennington Prep on its own field at 2:30.

BOWLING NOTES

Seven Leagues Underway. Seven leagues were already underway in Princeton last week with two more scheduled to begin soon. Hook and Ladder "L" (10) got off to a fast start in the Tri-County Fireman's Loop, leading Belle Mead, Hook and Ladder "H" and Dutch Neck by one game. In the Industrial League, Tiger Garage won five and tied one in its first two weeks of bowling to lead the Crescents (10) by one point.

Princeton Market and Huls' were tied for first place in the 3-Man Classic loop after sweeping their opening night series. Edward's Engraving and Kase Kleeners continued undefeated after two weeks of "B" League action, and Shelton Motors, Princeton Inn and Cranbury all led the "A" loop with eight points each.

In ladies bowling last week, Ideal (16) held a one-game edge over Team No. 9 in the Women's Industrial loop, with five other teams tied at eight points each. Finally, Amron Homes, Nassau Bootery and

News Of The CHURCHES

CALLS FOR STEADINESS

Dr. Goheen Speaks. In his Sunday address marking the opening of Princeton University's 215th year, Dr. Robert F. Goheen, president of the University, told a Chapel audience of 2,000 persons that the corporate service of worship, the thanks given, the "aspirations voiced together in hymn and prayer... express a sustaining awareness of an order of truth and of value which transcends us by far, but which yet gives light to our lives and to our deeds, a sense of purpose."

Quoting William Blake ("In to the dangerous world, I leap!"), Dr. Goheen pointed out that the world has never been a safe, sane or tidy place, and that it is not only today that free men have been faced with the need "for clarity of mind and steadiness of purpose under conditions of extreme strain."

He told undergraduates that it would be "rashness itself" to turn one's back upon the world because its problems are too much for anyone to comprehend. But he warned them, on the other hand, that allowing oneself to become too busy can become a form of escape, and that "prenature and unconsidered action is often more pernicious by far than either indecision or withdrawal."

Urging a way of life between these two extremes, he said, "The visible and necessary way is somewhere in between... It calls for an often difficult balancing of, and interplay between, the impetus for detachment and the impetus for involvement. It requires being able to find the long range view and search out for its relevance. It means preparing oneself for a life-time's work, not just for the present."

"Strive." Holding before the audience an ideal of education that "involves a striving for awareness and for steadiness," Dr. Goheen urged awareness of fundamental values that are at stake in today's world-wide clash of free and totalitarian ideologies; steadiness of mind, and moral steadiness in a dizzy, veering world.

"How each of us performs, how he prepares himself to perform—is a matter of consequence for all of us," Dr. Goheen concluded. "In your reading, you will be hearing, perhaps ever so faintly, what Woodrow Wilson called 'the eternal voice and song of the human spirit' and I hope that your ears will become attuned to that music of human aspiration to which the University gives sound in its devotion and understanding."

NEW INSPECTION HOURS

Stations Change Schedule

State motor vehicle inspection stations are now operating under the fall and winter schedule. Acting Motor Vehicle Director Ned J. Parsekian has announced. The stations are open on Saturday and closed on Monday.

Inspection stations are operating Tuesday through Saturday from 8 to 5. Those having night hours remain open until 9 p.m. Under the summer schedule, inspection stations were closed on Saturday and open on Monday.

STATE SELLS LAND

Public Offering Next Month. The New Jersey State Highway Department has announced that it will offer some 100 parcels of land at a public sale next month. Commissioner Dwight R. G. Palmer ordered the auction "to clear the books of left-over pieces of land not needed for our highway construction."

Mr. Palmer explained that the sale, resulting from a continuing inspection of right-of-way holdings, would benefit municipalities in the 15 counties where the land is located by returning the area to their tax rolls. The state will at the same time regain the cost of acquiring and selling the land. Previous auctions, held in 1956 and 1958, disposed of some 225 parcels for about $215,000.

LOAN FACTS AVAILABLE

To Small Businesses. The Small Business Administration has prepared a new leaflet describing its program for providing long-term capital to small businesses through loans to State Development Companies.

Under the guidance of this federal agency, such loans help small firms obtain capital for plant construction, expansion, modernization and conversion; purchase of equipment and machinery; working capital; and other sound business purposes. The leaflet provides full information on loan limits, maturity, interest rates, and so forth.

Copies may be obtained on request from the Philadelphia office of the Small Business Administration, located at 1015 Chestnut Street. William H. Harman is the regional director for the agency in the New Jersey-Pennsylvania area.

CLASSES FOR TODDLERS

For YMCA 3-5 Group. YMCA Toddlers Classes for boys and girls 3 through 5 will begin at the Y center Monday, September 25. Mrs. Betty Gates will direct the program.

Designed to provide preschool orientation for youngsters, the classes include arts and crafts, dramatics, music, games, stories, etiquette and speech.

Classes are conducted on a single weekly or double weekly session from 9.15 to 11.00 a.m. The fall program will be held for 12 weeks with 12 children enrolled in each class. Registrations are now being received at the YMCA office.

$400,000 TO PRINCETON

To Pioneer Social Science Work. Princeton University has received $400,000 from the Roger Williams Straus Memorial Foundation in New York to begin work on the faculty level to combine the various social science fields. The ten-year gift will permit the establishment of the Roger Williams Council on Human Relations at Princeton.

Dean of the Faculty J. Douglas Brown said that he knew of no other similar project in operation. If successful, the venture will receive an additional $1,000,000 from the foundation.

In announcing the gift, President Robert F. Goheen noted that "universities and their faculties have become increasingly caught up in specialization. But if they are to play their proper role in solving world-wide tensions, they must help organize and integrate specialized knowledge into generalized principles, principles which are relevant and useful in public and international policy."

"We must put social science to work on a team basis to hammer out principles in organized behavior just as science has hammered out principles in physics and biology," he said.

Dean Brown contrasted the new council with Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs which last month received an anonymous $35 million gift to expand its social science program.

The Wilson School is "on horseback to meet immediate problems," he explained. "The new scheme will deal with cross-fertilization at the fundamental level long before immediate problems arise."

NOT "FOR MEN ONLY"

YMCA Stresses Family. The opportunity for increased family participation will be offered this fall in the YMCA's Adult Fall program, starting Monday, October 2.

Men who register for the program may sign up for an evening conditioning class (Wednesdays), noon-hour conditioning and swim on Monday and Wednesday noons, co-ed badminton, men's volleyball, fencing, squash, judo, ping-pong, informal basketball, individual weight-lifting and workout, swimming instruction, senior life-saving or skin diving and scuba class.

There will also be men's recreational swimming each day at noon, early evening and late evenings.

Other activities include a ceramic workshop for men and women, an amateur orchestra, square dancing, an art class, men's glee club, duplicate bridge and adult radio and electronics.

Special family swim programs will be scheduled each month, and there will also be father-son swimming periods. Adult social programs include two Adult Evenings, the first to be held Friday, September 29 with dancing, swimming and special entertainment, to be called a "Farewell to Summer" party. There will be a Mr. and Mrs. Club, an Outing Club and a Y Men's Club with luncheon programs for members.

FAREWELL TO SUMMER

Third Y Adult Dance Sept. 29. Dancing and a midnight swim will be featured in "A Farewell to Summer," the third YMCA Adult Dance Friday, September 29. Sponsored by the YMCA adult committee and the Y's men's club, the dance will be held at the Y center.

Frank Bailey's band will play from 8.30-11.30 with a midnight swim scheduled from 11 to midnight. Specialty dances, prizes, refreshments and bridge will also be included.

Kal Soderman will sing American and Scandinavian folk songs. An agent with the New York Life Insurance Co., Mr. Soderman has been featured with his guitar and songs on numerous occasions here.

Tickets, limited to 150 participants, will be sold by the sponsoring groups and at the Y office. The second fall program now in planning stage is the Harvest Moon Square Dance scheduled for Friday, November 10.

CLERK ISSUES REMINDER

On Absentee Ballots. County Clerk William H. Falcey has issued this reminder on the filing of applications for absentee ballots to vote in the November 7 general election; potential absentee voters must file for applications in the clerk's office eight days before the election.
